SIGNAL PROCESSING APPARATUS

Abstract of the Disclosure

The present invention involves a method and an apparatus for analyzing measured signals, including the determination of a measurement of correlation in the measured signals during a calculation of a physiological parameter of a monitored patient. Use of this invention is described in particular detail with respect to blood oximetry measurements.

PATENT

H:\DOCS\JMG\JMG-5085.DOC
083103